The decline to 10914 brought in buyers, particularly at a late hour in the day, when it was reported that the cliques who had locked up money had abandoned the project, and that money would consequently be easy to-morrow. The course of the market is shown in the table:-

WALL STREET, TUESDAY, Dec. 12-6 P. M. On 'Change to-day wheat was inactive and unchanged. The cotton market was excited and strong. SUSPENSION OF THE OCEAN BANE.

The Ocean Bank, which for some time past had been debtor at the Clearing House, was thrown out been debtor at the Clearing House, was known out of the Clearing House this morning by resolution of the Special Committee on Suspensions, which action was subsequently ratified at a meeting of the Clearing House Association. Mr. Huriburd, the Comptroller of the Currency, happening to be in town and hearing of the action of the Clearing House, ordered the bank to suspend business as a matter of instice to all its various densities. matter of justice to all its various depositors.
The particulars of the whole affair will be found given at length elsewhere in our columns, inclusive of the statement of a member of the Committee of Investigation that among the papers of the institu-tion were found checks for $76,000 drawn by Mr. Collender, the National Bank Examiner of this district. In view of the position held by this official and his relations to the national banks as a supervisory agent watching the interests of the public, no little surprise was manifested in Wall street at the fact of his indebtedness to the institution. Doubless Mr. Collender can explain the matter satisfactorily; but this afternoon the feeling was strong that he should, under the circumstances, resign the office of Bank Examiner.

MONEY STRINGENT.
The money market was stringent, and the lowest rate was 7 per cent to some of the more favored government dealers. The stock brokers were in some instances accommodated at 7, coin, but the bulk of business in stocks was at 7 per cent, plus a commission of 1-32 a 1-16 per cent. Bank accounts were again late, many not being made up until near four o'clock, and borrowers who were out in quest of funds after three o'clock paid 1-1s a 1/2 per cent until about half-past three o'clock, when there was a rather better supply at 1-32 and interest, at which

The stock market was the scene of a hot battle pretty nearly all day between the "bulls" and "bears." The "boars," pressing the advantage of stringent money and being temporarily assisted by the apprehensions excited by the failure of the vance late in the day being sufficient not only to recover all the decline of the morning, but to put prices to the highest figures made since the Chicago fire. The feeling at the close was strong and buoyant, in consequence of a report that the "bears," discouraged by their numerous fallures to break prices by tightening the money market, had abandoned their purpose and would restore the "lockedup" money to the banks. In the miscellaneous rallways Hannibal and St. Jo preferred advanced 10 66.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH FAIR.

A Brilliant Display-Grand Collection of Scientific Sciling—The Object of the Fair.
The fair at St. Stephen's church opened on Monday evening with every prospect of being a brilliant success. For a first evening the attendance was very large, and had the advantage of being neither idle nor ungenerous, but proved itself a sympathetic and charitable assemblage, who had come to give, and gave. Much of the pleasure of Monday evening was due to the organist of the church, Mr. Danforth, under whose direction a select or-chestra discoursed favorite music, and thus afforded the thousands who attended during the evening of the promenade. As for the tables, they displayed collections of almost every conceivable article of a fancy sort, while the more solid and costly presents of the wealthy members of St. Stephen's parish presented themselves in profusion as tempting objects to the admiring visitors. While it must be admitted that the visitors to the fair were mostly ladies, of all ages, from tiny youth to venerable old age, it is but right to add that lovers of the beautiful—a in mode blonde or brunette—could not fail to be bewildered by the succession of such a pleasant panorama as the promenade provided. Yesterday the tables were even in more elaborate order than on the preceding evening, and a richness and exquisite taste were everywhere visible in the hall. The usual persistent efforts at money-making were also more marked among the ladies. Where there are so many thousands of articles so worthy of praise it would be invidious so soon to particularize some objects rather than others, and therefore each table is left to care for itself, without special comment. But it is worth while to refer to the noble object for which the lair has been gotten up. During the years the kev. Dr. McGlynn has been pastor of St. Stephen's, while he has given to this parish a most splendid temple of worship, he has not been unmindful of THB POOR, THE UNPORTUNATE AND THE ORPHAN. He sought to found within the ilmits of his parish institutions that would meet wants not hitherto supplied; to bestow shelter where cold contempt had been before the response, and to take under the kindest protection orphan children. To accomplish these things needed the establishment of institutions and large cullays of money. The success and great results which have awarded the pastor's labors have not only forbidden the idea of abandoning now the undertakings already entered into, but render necessary an enlarged sphere of action and consequent expenses. For the necessary to do charitable deeds. The fair will continue several days, receiving additional contributions each day in the various departments. of the wealthy members of St. Stephen's parish presented themselves in p rofusion as tempting objects

DENNINGER'S DUGS.

An Impecunious Amateur Tries to Obtain Serreptitious Possession of the Finest Dogs

in the Country.
The human race has from time immemorial entertained a keen predilection for the canine race, and the rivalry for the possession of choice specimens of the latter has given rise to angry passions and bitter contentions among the former. A striking illustration of this propensity was presented yesterday at Essex Market Police Court, and Justice Leawith's aid was invoked to settle the dispute.

Christian Denuinger, a ponderous Teuton, attired in crimson-hued comforter and bandanna handkerchief, had arraigne I one William Koch on a charge of appropriating to his own use and behoof a rare specimen of the breed known as buildog and two of her cimen of the breed known as buildog and two of her tender and promising offspring, all the property of the complainant, and reared under his lostering care. Christian, proud of his treasures, was fond of ex-hibiting them to admiring friends, and among the rest Koch was favored with the privilege of inspect-ing the broad and handling their dainty forms. Unfortunately for both himself and the owner he was and but too well appreciated their many fine points. He gazed in rapture on their manifold beauties, felt their teeth, weighed them and pronounced them superts of their kind.

The next morning Christian awoke to the terrible knowledge that his pets had vanished. In the first moments of returning reason the suspicion flashed upon him that Koch-Koch, the subtle, designing villain, who had so insidiously praised and caressed villain, who had so institutely praised and caressian the lost ones—was the perpetrator of the foul wrong. Speeding on the wings of the wind to the tribune of justice, he told his tale to the sympathizing zoophilist, Officer Willard, who was at once armed with a warrant and despatched after the alloged dog thief. Willard's breast swelled with the importance of the sacred trust confided to him. Big with the fate of Cosar and of Rome, he sailled forth and dragged the wretched dog-fancier into the presence of offended justice.
